division, University of Kentucky, states in a letter to the United States De-partment of Agriculture that "much improvement will come from it."

Notwithstanding the present excel-nce of much of the live stock in the state, Kentucky farmers are welc ing the opportunity to obtain, at reasonable prices, purebred sires of superior type. Additional sales are to be held.

VERY FEW REAL RUNTS BORN

reized and Unthrifty Animale Are enerally Result of Inadequate Food and Care.

Emphasizing that runty live stock re generally the result of inadequate eed, housing and care, the editor of a arm paper in the Central West a farmers have already reported to the United States Department of Agricul-ture on the subject of runt prevention

"There are very few real runts born," he declares. "They may be a little undersized, perhaps a trifle weaker and sometimes of inferior constitution, brought on by improper breeding systems. But poor housing limited range, getting rooted away and cheated by the larger and huskier of the litter—these are the agencies of the litter—these are the agencies by which most so-called runts are formed. Given proper care and feed until they get a start, the runts will

These comments agree closely with the opinions of others who contribut-ed their experiences in the matter to the department. Particular care needs to be given live stock at weaning time, since this is the time when the dams fall to give the nourishment required by the growing animal and when the young stock is learning to eat other feed.

WAY OF RAISING MULE COLTS

Best Plan is to Put Them on Food Best Growth

The older way of raising mules was to turn them out at weaning time and practically let them rough it until and practically let them rough it until three years old, then get them up, wild as deer, for a shearing and then either span them out to break or put them in the pen for fattening as un-broken stuff. Nowadays the mule colt is put on feed almost before weaning and is never allowed to stop his grow-ing until he is reached a year sooner by the new method than by the old. The nule at two is a good work aniby the new method than by the old. The mule at two is a good work animal, but care must be taken not to overdo him at that age, and it is best not to put a two-year-old in as a "regular" until he is well accustomed to the work, better still, don't crowd the youngster until he is three, when he will have attained quite a bit of that strength and grit that makes him the marvel of the working world.

FEEDING NEW CORN TO HOGS

Give Few Stalks Just as Plant Reach-es Advanced Milk Stags, Gradual-ly Increasing Amount.

A good way to accustom hogs to the new corn is to cut a few stalks of corn and throw it over the fence to the hogs just as it reaches the advanced milk stage, gradually increasing the amount until in 10 or 12 days, when the corn is well dented, the hogs are getting a full feed. Even then, it is necessary to watch them closely to see that none get off feed because of digestive trouble.

SILO PAYS LARGE DIVIDENDS

Home-Grown Seed Makes Best Crops.

Kentucky farmers who will need clover alfalfa, grass, soybean or cowpea seed for planting their crops next spring have been advised by crops specialists at the College of Agriculture to make plans now to obtain that growth in this State. Homegrown seed is an advantage in that it is usualy better acclimated and of the proper variety. Purchasing seed in this State is to be recommended since it not only supplies a market for a home-grown product but also makes it possible for the farmer to obtain the best seed possible at what is probably the lowest cost, the specialists say.

ney, one of the specialists said. Kentucky growers will profit to hold most of their seed until after February in order to let prospective growers in the State buy theirs at home. On the other hand, farmers who plan to grow these crops next year will profit by buying their seed early within the State since they can save from 20 to 30 per cent on the purchase price and at the same time provide a market within the State for the seed grown here."

Increasing use is being made of the Why Christmas Came.

Do you know my dearies, Why Christmas came today? This is the blessed day That Christ was born.

Down in a little manger A little baby lay His hair of golden yellow Upon a bed of hay.

And now you know, my darlings, How this day did come, o make the children happy And deaf with bugle and drum.

Down in a lonely valley, The Holy Shepherds Were looking at a little star, Up in the sky so clear.

What a story she had told them Of the dear little babe. In the town of Bethelhem.

And every since that night, The Holy Angels sing. The sky is shinning bright, All around with music ring.

Now don't forget, my darlings, Why Christmas came today. So be sure and keep it holy, If your bed is made of hay.

Old Kentucky Home."

Oh land of the verdant Blue Grass! How proud I am of thee; How fine thy scenes are in their class. They look so grand to me.

But not alone for thy fine scenes, I love thy land to roam, Thou hast a dearer charm for me-Thou are my native home.

Thy streams flow with beauty and wealth.

Yes, unequaled they be, Thy hills and vales bloom with health And are so grand to see. But not for thy grand mountain scenes.

Nor for thine azure dome. But I just naturally love thee, My old Kentucky home.

And you have prouder glories too Than nature ever gave:

Peace sheds o'er thee its genial de And freedom's banners wave. Charity plays a noble part, Religion lifts its dome.

These things endear thee to my heart.

My own loved native home.

The Lord to thee great wonders gave Thou hast streams under ground A most wonderful Mammoth Cave And marble cliffs found. And the finest horses it's true,

Will be found in thy zone, And most lovable women too, Are in my native home.

You produce fine hogs and cattle, Yes, and other things more; Have many good mules as chattle. And fine horses galore.

You raise fine wheat and also corn But not these crops alone, For tobacco too looms up strong At the Kentucky home.

May God's best gifts to man be thine God bless thy handsome girls. Like rare flowers they sweetly shine Their hearts are pure as pearls. Yes, and grace and virtues crown Where'er their footsteps roam. How can I then whilst loving them, Not love my native home?

I have visited other climes Beloved of tale and song: Have stood on hills, proud and sub lime.

Where nature's wonders throng; Yes, by beautiful sunsit streams Where honored men did roam, But have not seen a land so fair As my old Kentucky home.

Land of the Blue Grass, best of all! Here is wishing you wealth; Now and forever and for all

May you be blest with health. May no dark dissensions' banners Ever wave o'er thy loam, But should it come, I pray the Lord

May guard my native home. MILTON K. WALKER. Richmond, Ky.

Community In Washington Outlines Farm Work Plan.

By means of a community program of work which they have just completed in co-operation with County Agent R M. Heath, farmers in the Pleasant Grove community of Washington county have started a unified effort to improve agricultural conditions in that district. Corn, wheat, cattle. hogs sh,eep and poultry will be given special attention in the program It was designed by determining the factors which limit the profit from these phases of farming and then outlining methods whereby the limitations could be removed. Demonstrations to be conducted by different farmers and the better feeding and care of livestock ar to have an important place in carrying out the purposes of the pro-

CHOLERA TAKES LARGE TOLL

Lococo Have Been Greatly Reduced and May Be Wiped Out Entirely By Right Treatment.

August and September take the heaviest toll through hog cholera, the an expensive senson's feeding. In certain years the hog-cholers toll has run United States. Preventive measures developed by the United States Department of Agriculture have reduced work has effected this annual multicares to take the precautionary trouble and expense.

The serum treatment, develope about 15 years ago and first put into seven years, gives immunity if injected in time. This serum treatment is described fully in Farmers' Bulletin 834, which should be kept at hand for ready reference by every hog raiser.

Hog cholers is an epidemic disease; that means that it spreads from one or a few initial cases. It is carried in bedding, sty refuse, feeding troughs, plements, clothing of laborers, and even in running water. Sanitation will ut down the danger, but it is not an absolute preventive. Unless the farmer has taken the precaution to have all of his herd immunized with serum and virus, an operation which should be done by a veterinarian or a specially trained layman, there is always possibility of the disease breaking out

The farmer's protection lies in the fact that usually only one or two members of the herd are affected at first and he should be on the watch. One or two hogs will refuse to come up to feed with the herd. They will remain aldden in the nest, and when driven shiver. The rest of the herd may remain apparently well for several days when others are likely to be found affirst attacked. As the disease pro greases the sick hogs become gaunt or tucked up in the flanks, and have a weak, staggering gait, the weakness being most marked in the hind legs.

If the lungs are affected there may be a cough, which is particularly no-ticeable when the hogs are disturbed The eyes usually are inflamed and show a whitish discharge, which may cause the lids to stick together. Constipation, which is commonly present in the early days of the disease, is generally followed by a diarrhoea. As purplish blotches are likely to appear upon the skin of the ears, of the belly, and the inner surfaces of the

Some of the symptoms mentioned may be present in other diseases, but the owner should remember that cholera spreads rapidly through a herd and no time should be lost in calling a veterinarian to diagnose the treatment. COMMON AILMENTS OF SHEEP

Information Given in Farmer's Bulletin to Enable Owners to Recognize Symptoms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How to recognize and treat the more important diseases and common allments of sheep is told in Farmers' Bulletin 1155, Just Issued by the United States Department of Agriculture

A Sheep Parasite-Back View of Female Sucking Body Louse (Highly Enlarged.)

While the actual treatment of disease is primarily a matter for veterinarians, the information given in the new bulletin will enable sheep owners to recognize symptoms early in their develop ment and thus avoid losses to their flocks. Altogether 57 kinds of diseases and allments are discussed.

The sheep industry of the country has suffered severely from the ravages of infectious and noninfectious diseases. In addition to the scientific names, the bulletin gives the common names by which the various diseases are known. A convenient arrange ment of cause, symptoms, post-mortem appearance, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention makes it possible for sheep owners to obtain a practical knowledge of the best means for preventing and controlling sickness in the flocks. Numerous illustrations add to the clearness of the discussion.

As a companion bulletin to "Diseases of Sheep," the department is distributing also Farmers' Bulletin 1150, entitled "Parasites and Parasitic Diseases of Sheep." This bulletin explains methods for controlling various pests and parasites that attack sheep and rotation, feeding from racks, and other easures of value in parasite control.

LIQUID MANURE IS VALUABLE

Nitrogen and Potassium Should E Carefully Preserved and Used for Improving Crope.

The liquid excrement from farm animals contains nearly half the nitrogen and potassium voided by them and should be carefully preserved. When steers are fed on cement floors the value of the manure produced is more than $4 per year greater for each animal than when fed on earth floors. Open barnyard manure is about onehalf as valuable as stall manure. The least amount of nitrogen will be lost from stored manure if animals are kept on it or it is kept in a moist, well packed condition. Manure used in connection with continuous croppings will not maintain the maximum yield, but when used in connection with crop rotation it increases the yield of all crops grown in that rotation. Manure used in conjunction with a complete fertilizer high in phosphorus will give better returns than when either is used alone.

NEEDS OF GROWING ANIMALS

Pigs Thrive Better on Ear Corn and Green Alfaifa Than on Chopped and Ground Feeds.

Ear corn and green alfalfa meet the needs of growing pigs better, and at less cost, than chopped alfalfa and ground cob and cornmeal. The alfalfa stems and cob meal are better suited to the needs of sheep or cattle. They can handle more fibrous, indigestible matter than pigs.

Time of Processing May Be Somewhat Reduced.

Two Years of Experimental Work on Subject Made by Home Economics Kitchen-Much Corn Reported Spoiled Last Year.

(Prepared by the United States Depart-ment of Agriculture.) A little vinegar added to beans, corn, peas, asparagus, or spinach when canned by the water-bath method, will add materially in the reduction of loss by spollage. Moreover, the time of processing these vegetables may be somewhat reduced when a sufficient amount of acid is used, the home economics kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture reports after two years of experimental work on the subject.

In certain sections of the country in 1919 and 1920 canned sweet corn did not keep well, whether processed continuously or intermittently. In the home economics kitchen quart cans of corn processed for less than six hours continuously spoiled, while others canned at the same time, with the addition of four tablespoons of vinegar to one quart, did not spoll either year. although given only two hours processing. If only three tablespoonfuls of vinegar are used, process four hours; two or three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice to a quart have equally good results when processed three hours. Corn should always be boiling hot when packed into the jar.

With spinach and string beans the addition of two tablespoonfuls of the cid proved equally effective in reducng spollage. Vinegar or lemon juice the small amounts used modifies to some degree the natural flavor of the vegetable, but the acid taste is not objectionable to most persons. Moreover, much of the acld taste can be washed off before the vegetables are served. Experiments with vinegar and other acids in canning vegetables will be continued in the kitchen next School Notes.

The following pupils were on the honor roll of Manse High School for September, October and November, having made an average grade of 90 per cent or over: Bettie Hester, Herbert Tudor, Wiliam Tudor, Blanche Bowling, Gladys Tudor, Burdetta Ramsey, Vernella Gooch, M. Nelson Ramsey, Lula Spilman, Ivan Vanwinkle. For October, Doris Bowling, and Laverne Chandler.

The teachers of Manse School wish to thank the patrons and friends of the school for their hearty co-operation with the Parent-Teachers' Association in its work this fall. This organization has been right on the job with the school and everything that they have undertaken has been a success. Without it the teachers would have been greatly handicapped. All needed play ground equipment, much school equipment and repair work has been furnished and at present all is paid for. This organization has adjourned to meet again in March, at which time it will take up school improvement in general.

A Christmas play, entitled, "The Coming of the Prince of Peace," will be given on Thursday night before Christmas by the Manse school, at the Presbyterian church. All are invited to attend.

A Christmas tree will be given at the Manse Presbyterian church on Christmas eve.

Sad Mistake.

The family was away from town. Their house was in charge of a young mald. Occasionally an old woman came in to help with the cleaning. One day the maid opened the front door and was greeted by the angry woman. "I've been ringing and ringing and Sunday with his father and mother, rining,' said the latter. "Why didn't you come?" "You kep' on so reg'lar," said the maid. "that I thought it was only the telephone."

Should Not Walk Too Soon.

A flat foot-that is, a foot almost without any instep-is not only a deformity, but it engenders an awkward walk. Sometimes, also, the foot leans more to the outer side or more to the inner side. Both these defects are ner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marrion generally caused by trying to make children walk too soon. Children should not be encouraged to walk until the bones of their little feet are strong enought to support the weight of their body.

Belladonna

Belladonna is Italian for "fair lady," and the drug was given this name because Italian women employed the juice for staining their skin and to beautify the eyes by giving them a glistening appearance.

Nutrition in Fruits. Fruits are chiefly valuable for their sugar, acids and salts. Bananas, dates, figs, prunes and grapes, owing to their large amount of sugar, are the most nutritious. Apples, lemons and oranges are valuable for their potash salts, and oranges and lemons, es pecially, are valuable for their citric acid. Some fruits contain two or more acids, such as strawberries, raspber-ries, gooseberries and cherries. These fruits contain both citric and sialic

American Legion News

"If General Robert E. Lee was a a traitor, Napolian Bonaparte was a coward.

The statement was made by an admirer of both the great military leaders, Ferdinand Foch of France, while he was visiting Harrisson, Va., according to "a man who heard it," who has written national headquarters of the American Legion.

During a ceremony the marshal was handed a telegram. "Lee is the greatest traitor America ever has known," it read, signed by "An American Patriot." Foch read the telegram, smiled, and showing it to his aids said: "If General Lee was a traitor, I wish France had more of them. He was one of the greatest military leaders the world has ever known. This surely is a joke." The generalissimo kept the telegram, however.

If President Harding grants a pardon to ex-Private Thomas G. Jones of the A. E. F., Harry Haley, Canadian who served Jones' sentence for army desertion in Leavenworth prison, will deliver the pardon to his buddy "in the wilds of Canada," according to R. P. Dickerson, Springfield, Mo., Haley's benefactor, who has enlisted the aid of the American Legion to obtain executive elemency, Jones is hiding out in Canada, Dickerson has informed the Legion, but Haley will take him to his little family to a "small Canadian town" to his aged mother if the president grants the pardon.

Charges of negligence in the treatment of mentally deranged veterans of the world war are to be investigated soon by the United States Senate, General George A. Wingate has informed the American Legion of New York City.

Critically ill in a New York hospital because of overwork while he was director of the bureau of war risk insurance, R. G. Cholmeley Jones has received from the American Legion through Hanford MacNider, its commander, "sincere wishes for your speedy recovery from disability brought on by service to your country and your comrades." Mr. Jones was twice rejected for the army because of physicial disability, but served overseas as chief of the war risk

A lasting tie between the American mothers whose sons were killed in France and the gold star mothers of England has been established with the entrance into the American Auxiliary of Mrs. Amelia McCudden, Britian's official gold star mother. Mrs. McCudden was sent to America to represent the English war mothers at Arlington and joined the Legion women's auxiliary before she sailed back for England.

ted Polyclinic government hospital, in the heart of New Yerk City, and found it "not conductive to the convalesence of tubercular war veterans," the American Legion of New York has announced its intention of buying a hospital site in the Adriondack Mountains where the ex-service patients may be treated properly. The sanitarium will be supported by private individuals who have already pledged themselves.

One blissfully trustful former service man has written the American Legion Weekly asking that the publication "be sent to my new address, Esplandae St., New Orleans. Thank you for same. (signed) ex-soldier." There were only 4,000,000 ex-soldiers at the last count.

No reinstatements of government insurance can be made after Dec. 31st., according to word received at national headquarters of the American Legion. All the ex-service men can reinstate their government insurance except those who have a disability not treaceable to service. The yearly renewable term insurance may be reinstated by the payment of two monthly premiums. The applicant must state that he is in good health and provide a report of full medical examination substantiating that statement.

President Obregon of Mexico is considering two invitations to visit Texas this month. One is from the American Legion post at San Ahtonio, and the other from Governor Patrick Neff of Texas. The President was asked to attend the festivities in Houston and San Antonio in connection with the visit to those cities of Marshal Foch.
